EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

1. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Juan Marquez on October 5, 2004.

The application has been amended as follows:

Claim 14 was cancelled without prejudice towards further prosecution.

Claim 1 was amended to

1. A method for isolating and purifying nucleic acids, which comprises:
 - providing a mixed solution containing the nucleic acids, salts, and at least one organic solvent;
 - adsorbing the nucleic acids contained in the mixed solution on an adsorption support;
 - washing the support adsorbed with the nucleic acids with a washing buffer;
 - desorbing the nucleic acids from the support with an elution buffer thereby recovering the nucleic acids, wherein
 - said organic solvent includes at least one of ethylene glycol dimethyl ether, ethylene glycol diethyl ether, propylene glycol dimethyl ether, propylene glycol diethyl ether, diethylene glycol dimethyl ether, diethylene glycol diethyl ether, tetrahydrofuran, 1,4-dioxane, propylene glycol monomethyl ether acetate, ethyl lactate, hydroxyacetone, acetone, and methyl ethyl ketone.

2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The claimed invention now requires the use of specific organic solvents in the mixed solution with the nucleic acids, where the organic solvents are clearly added prior to the adsorption step and are present during the adsorption step. The cited prior art references of Henco and Colpan do not use the teach or suggest the use of the specific organic solvents claimed. Further, no prior art was found in which the specific organic solvents claimed were present during the adsorption step. Therefore, the claimed invention is novel and unobvious over the prior art.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
